

but poor attraction for the order-loving people of the old States. N. B. M

Letter from Madisonville.
(To The News.)

MADISONVILLE, January 18, 1884.—Mr. John Tinsley, who was accidentally shot and severely wounded at the house of Mr. E. B. Seay, of this county, some time since, recovered rapidly, and on the morning of the 12th, at Mr.
Seay's residence, he and Mr. Seay's beautiful and amiable daughter, Miss Willie, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The holidays have gone; so has the District Court. No one was killed, shot or stabbed during the time, but it is said the cattle-stealing industry was resumed pretty soon after the adjournment of the District Court.

The adjournment of court, the absence of Senator Randolph and family at Austin, and many citizens just now being away on pleasure and business, cause dullness in town, especially in society circles.

Unpleasant weather prevailed here recently, but it is moderating considerably.

OBSERVER.
